in Harvey Nichols, Knightsbridge, is a walk-in light bar that offers LED treatments from the comfort of an armchair. To tackle lines and plump up skin, pick the LED Rejuvenation Facial, £35 (11 minutes) - it boosts collagen, elastin and hyaluronia acid using yellow and near-infrared light (similar to red but with a longer wavelength to penetrate deeper). Grazia tip: put your hands on your shoulders so your mitts get the benefits too.

Dr Frances Prenna-Jones' discreet Mayfair clinic is one of London's best-kept secrets for expensivelooking skin, but her new Selfridges pop-up is set to let the cat out of the bag. Choose from a menu of 5-minute laser and light treatments, including The Glow Booster, Under The Weather and The Morning After, £50 (redeemable against products). All use a winning combo of YAG laser and IPL to minimise pores, even out skin tone and kick-start collagen and elastin production.

· For a speedy skin pit-stop, drop in to Sarah Chapman's flagship

Chelsea boutique for a session in the Dermalus Skin-Glow LED Light Pod, £40 for 20 minutes (or find a clinic near you at dermaluxled.com) It delivers red, blue and near-infrared light all at once for a collagen-boosting, blemishfighting, anti-inflammatory triple-whammy.
